We extend our heartfelt gratitude to Access to Justice, Azim Premji Foundation, Paul Hamlyn Foundation, EMP Bindi, and Raymonds for standing with us in our mission to create resilient, self-reliant, and empowered rural communities across Jharkhand.

Key Achievements

Highlighting our impact in local democracy, women farmers, health and nutrition, reviving indigenous healthy food habits, protecting women and child rights, agriculture, and infrastructure

KSRA and The Spirit of Viksit Bharat 2047

As India moves towards the historic milestone of 2047 — a century of independence — the vision of Viksit Bharat calls for an inclusive, self-reliant, sustainable, and empowered nation. At Karra Society for Rural Action (KSRA), this spirit is not just an aspiration; it is visible every day in the lives we touch across Jharkhand's villages. Through people-centered development and community-driven innovation, KSRA's ground work resonates strongly with the pillars of Viksit Bharat 2047.

The journey toward Viksit Bharat 2047 is one of shared responsibility — between people, communities, and institutions. Karra Society for Rural Action stands as a living example of how local action contributes to national transformation.

Through every initiative, training, and partnership, we are nurturing a vision of rural India that is self-reliant, equitable, and sustainable — the true spirit of a developed Bharat.

1. Inclusive and Equitable Development

KSRA's approach to rural development places the most vulnerable communities — especially women, tribal populations, and children — at the center of progress.

Our programs in women's empowerment, livelihood promotion, health, and nutrition ensure that no one is left behind. Through Self-Help Groups and women-led initiatives, we are fostering self-reliance, confidence, and local leadership. Every skill training in agriculture, lac cultivation, and organic farming is a step toward dignity and economic independence for rural families.

2. Tradition and Technology Hand in Hand

KSRA's skill training centers in solar electrification, and computer literacy are preparing rural youth for a digital and sustainable future. By using digital tools to monitor health, nutrition, and education outcomes, we are making development more transparent and data-driven — ensuring accountability from the grassroots upward.

3. Strengthening Grassroots Governance

KSRA upholds the vision of Atmanirbhar Bharat through strong local governance and people's participation.

By supporting Gram Sabhas and Panchayati Raj Institutions under the PESA framework, we enable communities to take charge of local resources, forests, and development priorities. Through capacity building of local representatives, especially women, we ensure that democracy in rural India remains vibrant, participatory, and inclusive.

4. Sustainability and Climate Resilience

The future of a Viksit Bharat must rest on ecological balance and climate justice. KSRA's environmental initiatives focus on soil conservation, forest restoration, water stream revival, and biodiversity protection.

Our work on promoting non-timber forest produce and integrating traditional forest practices with modern conservation techniques supports both livelihoods and the environment. These actions embody the principle of sustainable growth — development that safeguards the planet for generations to come.

5. Cultural Identity and Social Harmony

KSRA takes pride in promoting the rich cultural heritage of Jharkhand.

By reviving Sohrai art, tribal food habits, and encouraging cultural learning among children in villages and community centers, we celebrate the deep roots of Adivasi wisdom and creativity. Our cultural programs strengthen community bonds, ensuring that progress goes hand in hand with cultural pride and harmony.

"Empowering rural communities through sustainable initiatives fosters growth, resilience, and a brighter future for all."

OUR APPROACH

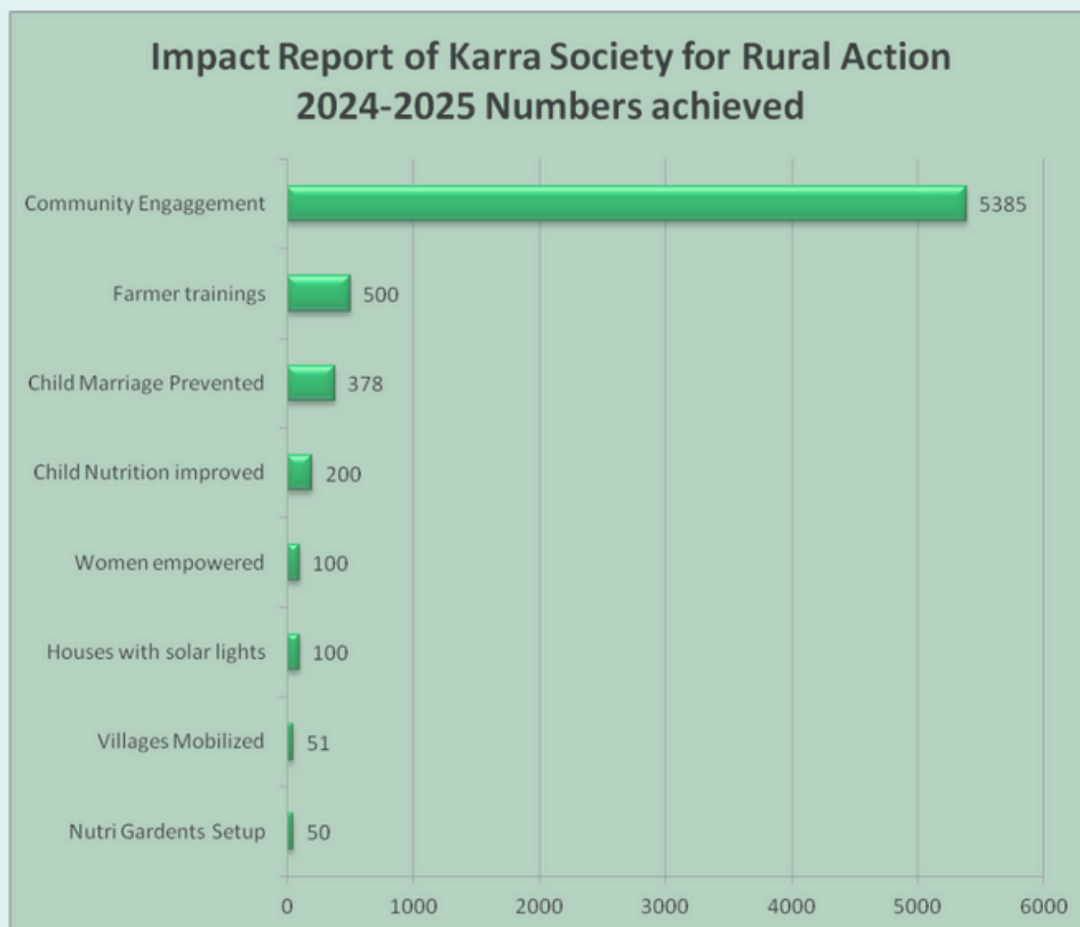

KSRA MODEL

KSRA follows a community-led, rights-based approach, ensuring that people are at the center of their development. We work through:

- Participatory Planning: Communities identify and prioritize their needs.
- Capacity Building: Training local leaders and youth for sustainability.
- Partnerships: Engaging with government, CSOs, and private sector allies.
- Evidence-Based Advocacy: Using data for policy influence and better governance.

MILESTONE

Most reports conclude with a page acknowledging the contributions of the people who worked tirelessly on the projects mentioned within. Below, list down the names of those committed to these projects, such as:

MILESTONE

Health and Nutrition –

Reversing Malnutrition, Reviving Traditions...

Our Impact

- 1,534 vulnerable beneficiaries reached.
- 200 children cared for in 20 rural crèches.
- 50 household nutrition gardens established.
- 130 people supported with critical nutrition packets.

How we did it?

We moved beyond supplementation to systemic change. By combining direct support (nutrition packets, crèches) with community-led solutions (like kitchen gardens, Poshan Bhoj festivals), we are not just bringing up the nutrition; we are reviving a culture of traditional healthy food habits.

Our success has drawn attention of the communities, making our model a blueprint for change.

Child Protection and Gender

Building Armor of Awareness Against Child Marriage & Trafficking

Our Impact

- 378 Child Marriages Prevented.
- 5 Girls Rescued from trafficking.
- 50 Villages actively monitoring and protecting children.
- 4,500 Children joined a powerful candle march for awareness.

How we did it?

We built a community-owned shield of protection. By forming adolescent groups (kishori groups), training communities to identify risks, and collaborating with authorities under Mission Vatsalya, we've turned villages into vigilant guardians of their children. We broke taboos by educating girls on menstrual health and providing sustainable hygiene kits, empowering them with knowledge and dignity.

Local Governance & Democracy

From Ordinary to Exemplary: Empowering Panchayats,
Unleashing Potential

Our Impact

- Dari Panchayat transformed into a digital, self-reliant model.
- 1,208 People linked to entitlements (Pensions, Awas, Job Cards).
- Nasha Mukht Gaon: A community-led movement ended illegal liquor trade in multiple tolas.

How we did it?

We believe true development is led by the community. We did the capacity building of the village women and equipped them to lead. Through persistent training, we helped Dari Panchayat go digital, revive its revenue system, and build infrastructure. Most powerfully, we supported women and leaders to rally against substance abuse, showcasing the incredible power of a united community.

Climate Resilience & Livelihoods

Women-Led Solutions for a Sustainable Future

Our Impact

- 100 Solar Home Lighting units installed.
- Trained Solar Sakhis: Young women certified as solar engineers.
- 500 Farmers adopted sustainable organic techniques.

How we did it?

Our climate action is led by those most affected. We trained and equipped young women as Solar Sakhis, turning them into tech leaders and earning community respect. This dual approach tackles energy poverty and gender inequality simultaneously. Similarly, our farmer training revives eco-friendly practices, ensuring food security and environmental care go hand-in-hand.

Adolescent Empowerment

Building Informed, Confident Citizens

In our continued commitment to empowering the next generation, we launched the Adolescent Empowerment Program with a focus on adolescent girls, supported by the Paul Hamlyn Foundation. This initiative aims to equip young girls with critical life skills that foster self-confidence, decision-making, leadership, and resilience in their daily lives.

Under the “Samvidhaan Jane” (Know the Constitution) campaign, adolescent groups are being sensitized about their rights and responsibilities as citizens of India. Through engaging workshops and participatory discussions, they are learning to raise their voices, understand social justice, and actively engage with democratic processes.

To make learning more accessible and enjoyable, we are also integrating sports and recreational activities that creatively introduce the core principles of the Indian Constitution. Games have become a powerful tool to educate children on topics like equality, freedom, justice, and duty —making civic education not just informative, but fun and transformative. This program is creating a ripple effect—building a generation of informed, aware, and empowered young girls who are ready to take charge of their futures and lead change in their communities.

Special Initiatives

- Menstrual Hygiene Management Workshops reaching adolescent girls in rural areas.
- Solar Villages Initiative ensuring energy access in remote areas.
- Nutritional Kitchen Gardens Drive initiated with village women leaders.
- Revival of Traditional Water Harvesting Systems to strengthen resilience against droughts.
